What's on?

Australasian Equine Science Symposium

The third Australasian Equine Science Symposium is being held at the Gold Coast International Hotel from 3 to 5 June.

Keynote speakers include Professor Sarah Ralston (Rutgers University USA) and Professor Pat Harris (Equine Studies Group, Waltham Centre for Pet Nutrition).

The sessions, presented by both international and Australian speakers will cover such diverse topics as: vitamin and lipid metabolism; reproductive efficiency; insulin sensitivity and nutrition; disease and foal care; therapeutics and drug testing; developmental orthopaedic disease; musculoskeletal injury; nutrition and management; climate change and Hendra virus infection. The speakers for the Hendra virus session being Professor Nigel Perkins, Dr Fiona Thompson and Dr David Lovell.

If you have an opportunity to attend, the programme has something for everyone. For more information go to www.australianequinescience.com

Queensland horse owners do not miss out on the latest Hendra virus information that is available. Dr Fiona Thompson together with Debbie Dekker (QHC President) present practical information for vets and horse owners alike at the QHC Hendra Virus Seminars.

It is well worth your time and effort to attend (or arrange) a QHC Hendra Virus Seminar in your area if you can, to learn how to reduce your risks. Please contact Debbie at president@qldhorsecouncil.com if you are interested in arranging a seminar. We'd love to hear from you!

Workplace Health & Safety—Hendra virus

Are you prepared for Hendra virus? How do your everyday practices shape up?

Workplace Health and Safety Qld has produced a survey so you can audit your own precautions and risk management.

Find out more on <http://www.deir.qld.gov.au/workplace/> or by visiting the QHC website at www.qldhorsecouncil.com and following the links.
